

Novel 2,5-disubstituted pyrimidine derivatives

A b s t r a c t

The present invention relates to novel 2,5-disubstituted pyrimidine derivatives which stimulate soluble guanylate cyclase, to processes for the preparation thereof, and to the use thereof for producing medicaments, in particular medicaments for the treatment of central nervous system diseases.